INC-5.2 – Day 6 Highlights

📍 Geneva, Switzerland

- ◆ Black Saturday: civil society sends a unified message to polluters
- ◆ WFAC joins Health Caucus on aligning health and environmental goals in the plastics treaty
- ◆ Minute of silence for Ghanaian ministers who died in a helicopter crash

Black Saturday Action

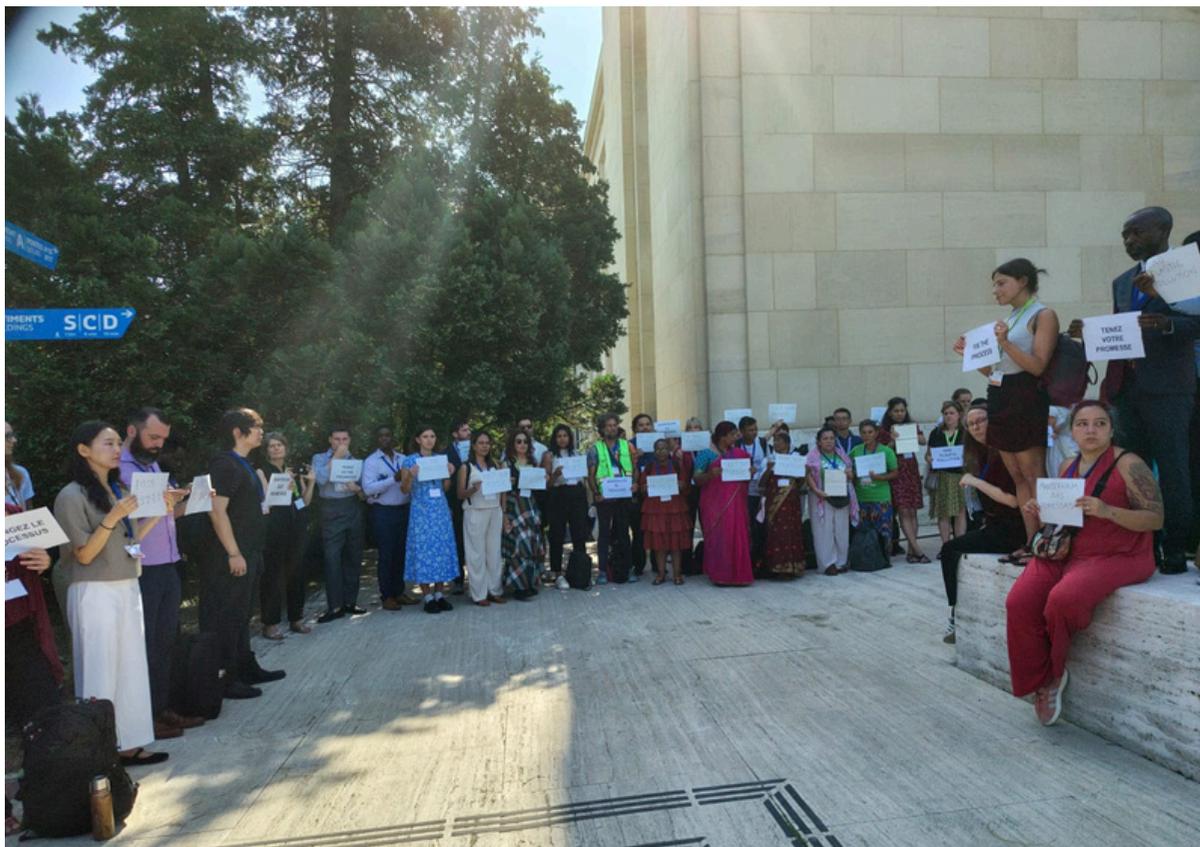

Civil society, including African voices, dressed in black to denounce toxic plastic pollution.

Our message: Without healthy people, society cannot thrive.

Poisoning our bodies with toxic plastic chemicals leaves no one alive to buy the products polluters value more than our health.

Health Caucus Engagement

WFAC took part in the closed-door Health Caucus, where health and legal experts, alongside interested Member States, explored:

- ◆ Strategic approaches to align health and environmental goals
- ◆ Policy coherence in the plastics treaty
- ◆ Strengthening health-related provisions

Honoring Ghanaian Leaders

Delegates observed a minute of silence in memory of the Ghanaian minister and some of his team members who tragically died in a helicopter crash, a moment of solidarity and reflection.
